

11. Think you to seduce me so? William Corkine

Think you to se- duce me so with words that have no mean- ing.
 Learn to speak first, then to woo, to woo- ing much per- tain- eth.
 If with wit we be de- ceiv'd, our falls may be ex- cus- ed.

Par- rots can learn so to speak our voice by pie- ces glean- ing. Nur- ses
 He that hath not art to hide soon fal- ters when he faint- eth, and as Seem- ing good with flat- tery grac'd is but of few re- fus- ed, but of teach their child- ren so a- bout the time of wean- ing, nur- ses ing.

 one that wants his wits, he smiles when he com- plain- eth, and as eth.
 all ac- curs'd are they that are by fools a- bus- ed, but of ed.
