1) "a" in orig.

Blessed are you, queen of the heavens,
and lady of the whole world,
and healer of the sick.

You are called the star of the sea,
you who gave birth
to the sun of righteousness, by which you are made to shine.

God the Father sanctified you, that you might become the mother of God;
likewise did the Father Himself,
of whom you were the daughter, sanctify and watch over you, holy one,
and sending you forth, greeted you thus:
Hail, full of grace.
